

With assistance of the WCOED, in 2015 Hanon Systems USA chose to locate its major expansion in a 100,000 square foot speculative facility in the Village of Carey. With ongoing local support, the company since expanded its facility by an additional 140,000 square feet, where it will employ over 300 full-time associates.

Strengthening Local Economic Viability

What We Do

Acting as a liaison, the WCOED partners with local-, regional-, and state-level entities to bring various forms of assistance to local businesses. Assistance such as training funds, grant funds, and tax credits and exemptions are available to local employers. The WCOED helps to identify and apply for these various assistance programs that are available through multiple outlets and whose requirements are constantly changing.

A Resource for Local Information

The WCOED website provides a vast amount of information and resources for local businesses and entrepreneurs, and many times serves as the first touchpoint for potential businesses considering Wyandot County, OH. The WCOED actively maintains industrial and commercial real estate databases for Wyandot County that are also available on our website:

Programs

Business Retention and Expansion (BR&E)

The WCOED offers a comprehensive BR&E program to create an ongoing narrative of the local economy. Designed to generate feedback through surveys and face-to-face meetings, the BR&E program allows existing businesses to provide accurate assessments of strengths and weaknesses in the local economy.

Business Attraction Program

Using knowledge gained through the BR&E program, the WCOED is able to identify local supply chain assets and target industries that can compliment existing business in Wyandot County. The WCOED also works with its regional JobsOhio partner to actively recruit leads generated both through the state and locally that are considering a potential location, which may include Wyandot County.
